Ragnar, son of Jarl Storvald, is frost giant royalty. His father fought alongside Contango Company against the Faceless Wyrms, and Storvald personally slew Aurelia Gildenfire, the mind-controlled matriarch of the metallic dragons, at the final battle.

Storvald sent his son on a pilgrimage to visit important sights across the Broken Kingdoms, but it hasn't gone how Ragnar imagined. He was shamed at Raventree, and shamed again when he got drunk and the goblins captured him. After fighting alongside Genesit Gambit to free the Choke, he now plans to visit the Brass Door, location of the climactic battle between Contango Company and the Faceless Wyrms.
